Robert Frost Art Exhibit: The Road Not Taken: Artistic Interpretations of Robert Frost's Poetry

Meet the artists

Ingeborg Seaboyer is a lifelong resident of Derry, New Hampshire. Her art education has stretched from Pinkerton Academy, to The University of New Hampshire, to the Manchester Institute of Arts & Sciences where she began to explore pen & ink drawing. She has combined both watercolor and colored pencil with her pen & ink, as well as experimenting with watercolor and oils.

Corinne Dodge is a retired school teacher residing in Derry. When teaching children, she participated in the 7th grade art curriculum along with her students. It was then that she first discovered her interest and abilities in drawing. She later went on to take art courses. Corinne works in a variety of mediums: pen & ink, watercolor, graphite, and colored pencil. Her subject matter is also varied.

Judy Krassowski is an arts administrator, STEM to STEAM advocate and teaching artist at Trinity High School in Manchester NH. She introduces traditional 2D and 3D materials and skills, along with digital arts and 3D printing applications.
