Women War Correspondents Wednesday, October 4 7 p.m.

Lee Safety Complex

Dickey Chappelle, Therese Bonney, Toni Frissell, and Martha Gellhorn. These are just a few of the women who broke the barriers for female journalists. Fighting stereotypes and rules designed to prevent them from covering combat, more than 125 women earned the coveted designation as certified correspondent. Learn more about their stories from blogger, journalist and published author, Linda Shenton-Matchett.

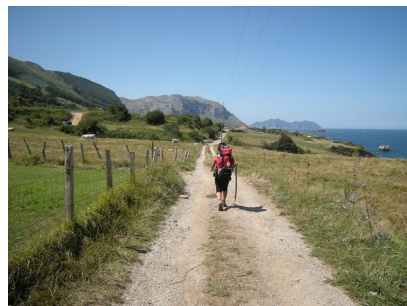

Cosponsored by the Lee Historical Society and the Lee Public Library.

Camino de Santiago Talk Wednesday, October 18 7 p.m.

Lee Safety Complex

If you enjoy walking and time for reflection, the Camino de Santiago could be your next adventure. People of all ages from around the world come together to walk west. The path is well marked and you will find your own rhythm.

In June & July of 2016, Diane Murphy and her husband walked the Camino de Santiago beginning their journey in St. Jean Pied de Port and ending it in Finisterra on the coast of north western Spain (550 miles). The ancient road is part of a network of many pilgrim routes in Europe. The Murphys are excited to share stories about their pilgrimage. They feel blessed to have had the time and resources to make this journey and amazed by all the gifts it gave them, especially the people they met along the way.
